

SPECIALITY CARDIAC CARE PROGRAM

Meadowbrook Bolingbrook is proud to announce the launch of its new Specialty Cardiac Care Program. This enhanced on-site specialty care initiative expands access to comprehensive cardiac services for residents living with complex heart conditions, reinforcing Meadowbrook's commitment to quality outcomes, continuity of care, and reduced hospitalizations.

The Specialty Cardiac Care Program at Meadowbrook Bolingbrook supports a wide range of cardiac conditions, including arrhythmias, atrial fibrillation and flutter, coronary artery disease, congestive heart failure, cardiomyopathy, hypertension and hypotension, post-CABG surgical follow-up, pacemaker and LVAD management, peripheral vascular disease, and more. Residents also have access to cardiac clearance services, chest pain evaluations, and monitoring for advanced cardiac devices such as Life Vests.

Key benefits of the program include early detection and proactive management of cardiac symptoms, direct specialist oversight for complex conditions, and seamless continuity of care following hospital-based interventions. On-site diagnostic capabilities—such as EKG, telemetry, spirometry, and sleep studies—help reduce delays in care, minimize unnecessary transfers, and support faster clinical decision-making.

Additional program highlights include personalized treatment plans tailored to each resident's condition, medication and oxygen management, disease-specific protocols, and ongoing staff education to enhance in-house expertise. Through timely, coordinated care, the program is designed to significantly reduce preventable hospital readmissions and promote long-term stability.
